Request to File Landlord-Tenant Lawsuit

Before you start entering information for your new case, do the following:

- 1. Compute current amounts due using your tenant ledger or other records, including: (1) rent, (2) late charges, (3) unpaid utilities, and (4) all other amounts you believe are due under the lease by category. Scott Law Firm will not compute these amounts from any records you may provide. You will be asked for these amounts as part of your case submission below.
- 2. Prepare documents and photographs for uploading or delivery, including: (1) the lease (required if there is a written lease, even if it has expired); (2) tenant ledger or other records showing charges to tenants and payments; (3) any pre-suit notices and/or demands you have given to the tenant(s); (4) any photographs you think will help prove your case; and (5) any other documents you think may be relevant to your case. PDF is the preferred format for uploaded documents, but you may also upload Word or Excel files. JPG or PNG are the required formats for digital photographs. If you are unable to prepare documents for upload, you may fax them to us at 573-443-1676. Alternatively, you can deliver or mail documents to us, but this will delay filing your case because we must have documents in hand before filing.

Service of Lawsuit Summons - If all Defendant(s) are to be served the same way, you can select the desired options in this section.

Service by Special Process Server – This is usually the fastest and most reliable. We will use a special process server if no selection is made. Service by Sheriff's Deputy – This is slightly less expensive but may be slower and may be unsuccessful if tenants cannot be served in person during normal business hours. However, this is a good option if you select posting because deputies post summonses quickly.

Serve by posting – This will allow a judgment for possession of the premises, but monetary damages cannot be awarded unless the tenant(s) actually appear in court.

Serve by personal service – This will allow a judgment for both possession of the premises and monetary damages.

Type of Lawsuit Desired – If you are not certain, select the type you think is closest to your situation. We will review all the information you submit and select the type of case that needs to be filed to get the best legal result.

Rent and possession - Select if the only lease violation is nonpayment of rent. Tenant can pay after lawsuit is filed and stay.

Unlawful detainer - Select if tenant stays after lease expires or has been terminated. Tenant cannot pay and stay.

Select unlawful detainer situation(s) you believe applies:

Tenant remains after lease expired

Month-to-month lease terminated by written notice (provide copy of notice)

Lease terminated for cause (provide copy of termination notice)

Unauthorized occupant or squatter (provide copy of written demand for possession)

Employee terminated where tenancy was pursuant to employment (provide copy of written employment termination notice)

Tenancy at sufferance terminated by 30-day written notice (provide copy of notice)

Occupant remains after property was foreclosed (provide copies of all written notices to occupant regarding foreclosure)

What is the monthly fair rental value of the premises? (leave blank if fair rental value is the same as monthly rent): $

Note: Fair rental value is used to calculate "double damages" in unlawful detainer cases.

Expedited eviction – Select for illegal drug-related activity, or credible threat of imminent injury to persons or extreme damage to property Select the legal ground for expedited eviction:

Illegal drugs or paraphernalia

Imminent physical injury to persons or extreme damage to property

Allowing a person to enter the premises who was barred from entering the premises in a prior expedited eviction case
